Seasons Greetings

As we look back on 2014, we are grateful for your continued support, involvement and input.

We look forward with enthusiasm and optimism to the challenges and opportunities that 2015 will no doubt bring and aim to ensure the best interests of the people of the area are served at all times. Councillors and staff of Kyogle Council would like to wish you, your family and friends, hope, happiness and peace during this Festive Season and throughout the coming year.

Council to apply for above pegged limit rate rises

Kyogle Council will apply to the Independent Pricing and Regulatory Tribunal (IPART) for a series of special rate rises over the next five years.

The rolling series of above-the-pegged-limit rate increases is part of Council's Long Term Financial Plan which was adopted at the 8 December Ordinary meeting and aims to put Council on a path to financial sustainability.

Councillors to workshop Fit for the Future Program

Kyogle Councillors will meet early in the New Year to explore the issues, implications, advantages and disadvantages in relation to Fit for the Future and the relevant templates.

The councillor workshop will be held on 12 January, 2015, and will be led by an independent facilitator.

To date Kyogle Council has not adopted a position on the question of a potential merger as recommended in the State Government's Fit for the Future blueprint for local government in NSW.

Kyogle Mayor Danielle Mulholland said the Council wanted to be as fully informed as possible before making such a crucial decision.

"We want to have as much information as possible on the pros and cons of the Fit for the Future program and the implications, both good and bad, for ratepayers and residents before we adopt a position one way or the other," Cr Mulholland said.

"I would expect that Councillors will have a much better understanding of all the issues after the January workshop and we will be able to further explore these at separate, informal discussions, Council is looking to have with Lismore City and Richmond Valley councils in the New Year."

Cr Mulholland said that the Council would inform and continue to engage with the community throughout the process.

The Long Term Financial Plan also proposes significant increases in expenditure on Council's road and bridge network and some cuts to services.

Council received a mixed response to the draft Long Term Financial Plan when it was placed on public exhibition for community feedback.

Some people believed the proposed rate rises were unaffordable and the cuts excessive. Others indicated that while they would prefer not to pay a significant rate rise, it was preferable to a merger with a neighbouring Council.

Kyogle Council's application to IPART will seek approval for a total rate rise (including the above pegged limit increase and stormwater management charges) of 12.42% in 2015-2016, 5.43% (including the above pegged limit increase and stormwater management charges) from 2016-2018 and 5.44% (including the above pegged limit increase and stormwater management charges) from 2018-2020.

While Council had to inform IPART that it intended applying for an above the pegged limit rate rise by 12 December, it won't lodge the formal application until February 2015.

IPART is not expected to make a decision on the application until April 2015.

From the Mayor

Well by the time you read this, December will have been a full month and I can genuinely say that, along with most of you, I'm really looking forward to the Christmas/New Year break coming up. This month has seen discussions about the State Government's Fit for the Future initiative continuing although, as more details emerge, it's obvious that these are still very early days and it's a long way from having any well defined outcomes. I've recently met with our State and Federal representatives about a range of issues including roads, bridges, waste management, health and policing to name but a few.

I was privileged to attend the graduation ceremony at the Bonalbo Central School on 28 November and there are photos on my Facebook page for interested parties. I've attended a number of end-of-year events including an RFS cadet graduation ceremony at Woodenbong, the International Day of People with Disabilities celebrations, opening of an Art Exhibition at Mallanganee, meetings at Bonalbo and discussions with indigenous representatives about some of their issues – so life has been as busy as always. And I'll be attending a number of functions in the lead up to Christmas as well as a range of meetings and discussions until Council closes on 19 December 2014, so you'll probably see me out and about frequently.

Council will recommence operations on 5 January, 2015, but if there are any emergencies or natural disasters, Council will always be there to assist.

With summer upon us, it's really important for everyone to stay cool and calm. I know and understand that dealing with each other, like dealing with government at different levels, can sometimes be a frustrating experience.

We all want simple solutions to complex problems and if we could do it, we would but that's sometimes not possible. Please remember, we're trying to help not hinder you, and that sometimes the answer to your question will not be what you hoped for.

I like to meet as many of you as I can, but there's only one of me and there's lots of you so if you see me in the street, feel free to say hello. Alternatively, you can always phone, email or contact me on Facebook if there's something you'd like me to know about.

Finally, on behalf of all Councillors, let me take this opportunity to wish everyone a safe and happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

Be kind to each other, have a wonderful break with family and friends and from everyone at Council, we wish you all the best and look forward to your continuing enthusiastic support in 2015.

*Until next time, all the best,
Cr Danielle Mulholland
Mayor Kyogle Council*

NBN Rollout

Kyogle has been added to the National Broadband Network (NBN) rollout schedule. Kyogle and surrounds is set to receive fixed wireless facilities. NBN Co spokesperson Darren Rudd, said the ongoing rollout was delivering fast, reliable broadband to more and more Australians. "More families and businesses in NSW are a step closer to being able to enjoy the benefits of fast and reliable broadband, which can deliver improved access to e-health resources, online education, teleworking opportunities and entertainment on demand," he said. "For families in rural and regional communities in particular, NBN provides access to internet speeds and capacity that many in the big cities take for granted."

New Weighbridge for Kyogle

Construction of a new 50 tonne electronic weighbridge at the Kyogle Landfill is nearing completion. Contractors Aussie Weighbridge Systems have been fortunate with a run of good weather with the slab, weighbridge deck and concrete approaches now completed and the installation of the gatehouse and office almost complete. Council will be undertaking improvements on Runnymede Road and the entrance into the landfill. These works, weather permitting, are scheduled this month (December) and the internal roads will be completed early in the new year with the weighbridge likely to be in operation from mid February 2015. The weighbridge will ensure the accurate recording of all waste and recyclables entering and leaving the site especially the quantity of waste going to landfill which incurs the NSW Waste Levy currently set at $65.40 per tonne.

The current method of the EPA conversion rates suggest that the weighbridge will reduce the Levy amount being paid.

In addition to the new weighbridge, Council has received over $100,000 for the construction and operation of a Community Recycling Centre (CRC) which will accept free of charge typical household nuisance items for recycling. These items include: Oils; paints (oil and water based); E waste; smoke detectors; household batteries; fluorescent tubes and globes; gas bottles; and fire extinguishers. These items will be appropriately packed and stored for transportation to recycling centres. It's hoped that the construction of the CRC will start early in the new year with a completion date around the end of March 2015.

Aunty Patsy Nagas Memorial Plaque Unveiling

The Kyogle Reconciliation Group has issued an open invitation to the Kyogle and district community to attend the unveiling of a plaque in honour of respected Aboriginal elder Aunty Patsy Nagas, who was also known as Bundjulahm.

The plaque recognises Aunty Patsy's lifetime dedication to the cause of reconciliation.

It will be unveiled at the Anzac Park Lagoon, Kyogle, on Saturday, 24 January, 2015, at 10.30am.

All are welcome.

International Volunteers Day at a Local Level

Long-time Council volunteer Bob Olive gives the shade shelter and barbecue area in Aboody Park Wiangaree the thumbs up during the construction.

The Village Maintenance Agreements operate with the support of the Wiangaree, Woodenbong, Mallanganee, Old Bonalbo and Bonalbo Progress Associations as well as the Jubullum Local Aboriginal Land Council, the Bonalbo RSL Sub Branch and the Old Bonalbo Hall Trust.

The volunteers undertake a range of jobs including mowing and cleaning of public toilets.

Meanwhile, one of Council's longest serving village maintenance volunteers Bob Olive, of Wiangaree, has hung up his mowing hat after almost 10 years.

Mr Olive could regularly be seen around Wiangaree on the ride-in mower, doing his bit to ensure the village's entrances, parks and gardens were trim and tidy for the benefit of residents and visitors alike.

Mr Olive has moved out of the area and with his departure the Wiangaree Progress Association is looking for people living in and around Wiangaree who may be able to take on some of the village's maintenance.

Anyone who can help out or who would like further information is asked to contact the Wiangaree Progress Association.

Kyogle Council has used International Volunteers Day on December 5 to pay tribute to the many people throughout the local government area who donate their time and effort for the benefit of the community.

"Volunteers contribute to our community in many, many ways through service clubs, sporting groups and a range of organisations, such as the SES and the Rural Fire Service," Kyogle Council Executive Manager Urban and Assets Graham Kennett said.

"Volunteers are the heart of most communities and Council would like to thank everyone in the Kyogle Council area who gives up their time to make this local government area such a wonderful place to live."

Volunteers also play a vital role within Council.

Volunteers keep the local villages clean and tidy through Council's Village Maintenance Agreements, staff the Kyogle Visitor Information Centre, help operate the Roxy Art Gallery and assist at the Kyogle Library.

"Volunteers help Council provide a level of service to the community that would not otherwise be possible," Mr Kennett said.

"Without the volunteers who work with Council under the Village Maintenance Agreements, we would not be able to maintain our villages to the standard they currently enjoy.

"Similarly, the Visitor Information Centre, the gallery and the library would not be able to operate to the level they do without the help and support of volunteers."

Collins Creek Hall

Member for Lismore Thomas George, Kyogle Councillor Maggie Creedy and long-time local resident Ruth Haig were among the special guests at the opening of improvements to the Collins Creek Hall.

Improvements to the Collins Creek Hall were officially opened by long-time local resident Ruth Haig at a special afternoon tea on 2 November.

Other special guests at the event included Member for Lismore Thomas George and Kyogle Councillor Maggie Creedy.

The hall improvements were made possible by an $8,500 State Government grant and generous donations of materials and labour by local businesses and Collins Creek residents.

Work has now begun to restore the tennis court at the hall. The community at Collins Creek has worked hard to make these improvements possible and are to be congratulated.

Community Directory Update

Kyogle Council wants to update its community directory and is calling on all community organisations and groups across the whole council area to send their details in to Council.

Council plans to develop a comprehensive community directory for use by locals, new residents and visitors and is keen to hear from the full cross section of community groups in the LGA. It's envisaged that the new community directory will incorporate service clubs, community and church groups, Aboriginal organisations, sporting groups, welfare organisations, special interest clubs, volunteer groups and charitable organisations.

And Council wants the details of all these organisations from across the whole of the Council area – not just Kyogle.

Information Council is seeking from the various organisations includes:

- the name of the group/club/organisation;
- details of the services offered or the group's aims or objectives;
- information on where the organisation is located or when and where the group meets;
- a contact name, phone number and email address.

When complete, the directory will be available via the Council's website. Information for the directory can be emailed to council@kyogle.nsw.gov.au, sent to Community Directory, PO Box 11, Kyogle, NSW, 2474 or dropped into Council's administration centre at 1 Stratheden Street, Kyogle. The deadline for entries in the community directory is 27 February 2015. For further information contact Janelle McLennan on 6632 0214.

Wrap Up at the Roxy Gallery

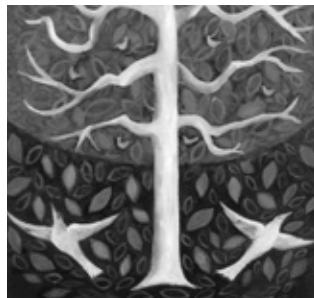

The final exhibition for the 2014 calendar year will see in the start to the 2015 calendar year of exhibitions at the Roxy Gallery.

'Wrap Up' is an exhibition of works by more than 25 artists living in this area and runs until the 31 January 2015. In keeping with the festive season, this exhibition is an opportunity for creative people to exhibit their artworks and offer up their creative product for purchase as a Christmas gift. It has an element of change too – if a work is purchased in full before the end of the exhibition it may be removed thus leaving room for a new piece of work to go up. A variety of artworks in style and medium will be exhibited in 'Wrap Up' highlighting the diverse nature of creative talent living in the region. The exhibition does not have a theme and as such promises to showcase a collection of ideas.

In 2014 more than 4,000 visitors attended nine exhibitions by 20 local artists at the Roxy Gallery. These figures indicate a great interest by locals and visitors in the creative arts. Quite a number of artists who exhibited sold works and gained a broader public following. All of which is positive.

The Roxy Gallery would like to extend a heartfelt thanks to the many volunteers who person the gallery during opening hours, to the members of the Kyogle and District Arts Council for supporting the arts in the region, to all the artists who engage in the gallery and to the viewing public.

All contribute to make the Roxy Gallery an art hub. The Roxy Gallery will be closed for Christmas, Boxing Day and New Year's Day.

Be Part of the Community Based Advisory Committee For Crown Land

If you have experience or an interest in Trust Reserves, good communication skills, can work co-operatively to resolve conflict and find solutions, have established positive community networks and relationships then Council wants to hear from you. Kyogle Council, through its Crown Reserve Strategic Plan, identified the need to establish a Community Based Advisory Committee (CBAC) to assist with the way that Crown Land for which Council is Trustee is managed.

Membership will comprise a maximum of nine members. Membership will be by nomination from the community and applicants who are (or have recently been) on a Crown Reserve Trust Board in the Kyogle LGA would be valuable members of the CBAC. The CBAC members must be able to demonstrate expertise across any of the four key values of Crown Land (conservation, economic, recreation and social).

The nine members will meet

2-3 times per year, at Kyogle Council Chambers.

- Members will be appointed for a period of two years;
- Members will be appointed by the GTRR Trust.

If you are interested please read the Gateway to the Rainforest Reserve Trust Terms of Reference (available on Council's website) and familiarise yourself with the requirements of the position and then submit a maximum two-page written submission. Submissions will be accepted up until 4pm 26 January, 2015. For further information contact Carol O'Neill 02 6632 1611.

Bush Fire Survival Plan

With hot, dry conditions predicted for summer, people living in or near bushfire prone areas have been urged to update their bush fire survival plan.

The warning has come from the Kyogle Emergency Management Committee. NSW Rural Fire Service Superintendent Michael Brett said preparation was the key to surviving a bush fire.

"During a bush fire, there are many critical decisions to be made which can influence your safety and it is important to make those decisions well before a fire threatens your home," he said.

"Leaving it until the last minute can prove deadly. Having a well practised Bush Fire Survival Plan is the first step in protecting your family and property during a fire."

Supt Brett said the NSW RFS Bush Fire Survival Plan sets out the decisions residents would need to make to prepare for a fire.

"The Bush Fire Survival Plan takes you through all the issues you need to consider before making the important decisions on how you and your family can survive a fire," Supt Brett said. "You should have already considered whether you'll stay and defend your property, under which conditions that is an option and what steps you need to take to prepare your property beforehand. "If you or your family plan to leave early, you need to decide well in advance where you will go, how you will get there and what you'll take."

The NSW RFS Bush Fire Survival Plan and helpful guides to assist with completing your plan can be downloaded at www.rfs.nsw.gov.au.

Apple and Android smartphone and tablet owners can create a Bush Fire Survival Plan by downloading the free MyFirePlan app (pictured right) from the App Store and Google Play.
