Penalty Notices for Fibro Dumping

Kyogle Council is looking at issuing penalty notices to people disposing of waste fibrous cement (fibro) in domestic garbage bins.

The move comes after repeated incidents over the last couple of months of Council finding fibro dumped in household bins – a practice that is placing people's health at risk and costing Council thousands of dollars.

Council's Senior Environmental Health and Waste Office David Bell said fibro may contain asbestos, a hazardous material that by law must be properly wrapped and disposed of.

"When it's simply put in a bin and picked up by a garbage truck it often ends up being mixed with the recycling," he said.

"When this happens the recyclables have to be treated as being contaminated and tonnes of recyclables have to be buried as waste in the landfill. "Each time this occurs it costs our community. The resource that would have been used to make new products is wasted and Council has to pay the EPA for each tonne of waste buried in the landfill (currently $65.40/tonne).

"This money would be much better spent elsewhere."

Council has received advice from WorkCover that it is almost impossible to tell if fibro contains asbestos simply by looking at it.

"Determining whether material contains asbestos is a specialist field and unless a person is certain that fibro does not contain asbestos, it should be considered to be asbestos and managed appropriately," Mr Bell said.

Under the current Household Asbestos Disposal Scheme (HADS), Kyogle Council residents can obtain a free asbestos removal and disposal kit from Council's administration office. This allows for disposal of up to 10m² of asbestos per household at a reduced rate. Under the HADS, disposal of 10m² of asbestos at the Kyogle landfill costs approximately $10.

Casual Employment Register

Kyogle Council is currently compiling a register of potential casual office staff interested in working for council on an "as needs" basis.

Suitably qualified staff would be interviewed and also required to undergo a pre-employment medical examination at Council's cost.

Bonalbo Show Time!

A special presentation by the Tenterfield Light Horse Troupe to commemorate the Centenary of ANZAC will be one of the highlights of this year's Bonalbo Show.

The two day show will be held on 17 and 18 April. It kicks off on Friday, 17 April with the working cattle dog trials and the judging of the pavilion exhibits.

Saturday's events will include the Light Horse presentation as well as three show horse rings, bush pony and draught horses, show jumping, poultry and led stud and commercial cattle classes.

The pavilion, showcasing some of the area's best produce, cooking and arts, will be open to the public and there will be a jumping castle and entertainment specifically for children. Market stalls will also operate. For further information or enquiries for schedules or market stall bookings, contact show society secretary Michelle Malt on 6665 3324 or president David Whitney on 6665 3152 or 0427 707 165.

for the register, should fill out Council's casual employment form and return it to Council along with their resume.

The casual employment form is available on Council's website or from Council's administration centre at 1 Stratheden Street, Kyogle.

From the Mayor

What wonderful Australia Day celebrations we've had all across the LGA.

I was especially impressed with the spirit and enthusiasm shown throughout the villages of the LGA with a special mention to Woodenbong.

I had the pleasure of attending and thought your service was outstanding. I send my warmest congratulations to all the recipients of awards and especially to Kyogle's Citizen of the Year – Brian Hoffman. If you see Brian in the street, you know what to say.

There's been lots of talk lately about the possibility of Council amalgamations. My advice, based on the best information available, is that there's no need to panic. The State Government has assured us that this will not happen before the election in March this year. The whole 'Fit for the Future' initiative is a long term strategy and not a quick fix for any particular problem.

So much is dependent upon directions from the State Government and with an election looming at the end of March, understandably their attention is focused on other matters for the time being. In the meantime, Council has been gathering information and will be having discussions with other local governments in the area to see what they are proposing to do and working on the preparation for our own submission to the 'Fit for the Future' initiative due at the end of June 2015.

Council will identify what our best case scenario is, if amalgamations proceed and present these options to the community: What will be our position if we merge with Lismore? If we merge with Richmond Valley? If we stand alone?

Once we have all of this information, the community engagement process will begin and you will have an opportunity to participate in the decision-making process.

A memorial was unveiled in honour of the late Aunty Patsy Nagas on 24 January, coordinated by the Kyogle Reconciliation Committee. It was very moving, with stories being told about Aunty Patsy and the inclusion of the most amazing song called the Bundjalung Bingle. Many thanks to everyone who attended and contributed to making it a wonderful day.

The pumpkin competition was again a success with some enormous pumpkins being displayed!

For those who are concerned that a giant pumpkin has been placed in the centre of town, please rest assured that The Northern Star photoshopped the pumpkin into the photo and the story was a bit of whimsy about Kyogle.

The Woodenbong Bridge Building Boys have made headlines again with their innovative bridge designs, even managing to impress our State colleagues. Congratulations!

Tabulam, Mallanganee and Bonalbo have formed a committee to hold an arts/crafts/music festival on 2 May this year.

If you're a Facebook user, you will find the page under Lions West of the Range Festival.

It's brilliant to see these communities working together to create a signature event for themselves and I will certainly be going to check it out.

*Until next time, all the best,
Cr Danielle Mulholland
Mayor Kyogle Council*

Chemical Cleanout

More than 1000kg of old, leftover household chemicals was collected during the Household Chemical Clean Out Day conducted by Kyogle Council in November.

Scores of people took advantage of the chance to dispose of unwanted chemicals from their homes free of charge at the Kyogle Landfill on the day.

About 400kg of chemicals more than last year was collected.

Kyogle Council would like to thank everyone who took part in the day and encourages residents to use similar services in the future, especially when the EPA provides funding that allows free disposal.

Council has also reminded residents that empty, triple-rinsed chemical containers can be dropped off at any time, at any of its landfill or transfer stations free of charge.

Your Brain Matters

Alzheimer's Australia NSW is bringing its Memory Van and the Your Brain Matters program to Kyogle.

The Memory Van is a mobile information service about memory and dementia and it will be parked outside the Kyogle Memorial Institute Hall in Stratheden St, Kyogle, on Wednesday, 25 February, 2015, from 9.30-11.30am.

It is free and will be open to anyone in the community looking for information and advice about dementia, memory concerns and steps to maintain good brain health. On the same day, from 10-10.45am, Alzheimers Australia NSW will put on a Your Brain Matters presentation in the supper room of the KMI. The presentation also features five simple steps people can take to maximise brain health. It is free and open to anyone interested in learning how to reduce the risk of developing dementia. For further information email Christine.vannucci@alzheimers.org.au

SES Recruitment

The Kyogle, Tabulam and Urbenville State Emergency Service (SES) units are on the hunt for new members.

The three units are looking for people with a passion for helping their community and who are keen to try a new experience that brings with it accredited training opportunities.

The three units will hold information sessions during the first week of March and are urging everyone interested in learning more about what is involved in being an SES member to come along.

A range of roles within the SES are available for members to undertake. The recruitment information sessions will be held at:

Urbenville SES shed, 24 Tooloom Street, Urbenville, on Monday, 2 March, 7pm

Kyogle SES shed, Ettrick Street, Kyogle on Wednesday, 4 March, 7pm

Tabulam SES shed, Bruxner Hwy, Tabulam, on Thursday, 5 March, 7pm

Australia Day Heroes

Community volunteers, unsung heroes and sports stars from across the Kyogle Council area were recognised on Australia Day.

Official events were held at Kyogle, Woodenbong and Bonalbo, with each attracting good crowds keen to celebrate all that's great about Australia and what it means to be Australian.

At Kyogle, the event started with an Indigenous Smoking Ceremony and concluded with lunch courtesy of the Kyogle Quota Club.

At Woodenbong, revellers started the day off with billy tea and scones and ended it with the City versus Country cricket match, which was won by City.

Australia Day celebrations at Bonalbo included tug-o-war and toss 'n' the bull competitions.

A highlight of each of the three events was the presentation of the annual Australia Day Awards.

Award winners were:

Kyogle Chamber of Commerce had a full agenda and a good roll up of members at its February meeting – its first for 2015.

Items discussed included:

- The Christmas spirit created by the window dressing competition – the Chamber thanked everyone who put in the effort to construct a Christmas display.
- Efforts in association with the NSW Business Chamber to hold a Meet the Candidates Forum for the upcoming State election in Kyogle.
- The good press Kyogle has received over the Christmas holiday break via the television ad inviting people to visit Kyogle and media reports describing Kyogle as a sustainable place to live.
- Kyogle's inaugural Business Excellence Awards which will be held this year – to sponsor or become involved in the awards contact Liz at Elizabeth T Fashion.
- News that two new businesses plan to start up in Kyogle – a tattooist and a new café.
- A joint project with the Kyogle Lions and Rotary Clubs and Kyogle Tidy Towns to complete the Kyogle Visitor Information Centre and Amphitheatre with the installation of playground equipment and a stage;
- Options for the old IGA store.

The next meeting for the Chamber will be held in the first week in March.

Border Ranges Club

Every Monday, Kyogle district men and women meet at the Kyogle Seniors Centre for a day of fun friendship and food with the Border Ranges Day Club. The Day Club meets from 10am to 2pm for games, quizzes, raffles, guest speakers, entertainment, gentle exercises and morning tea and lunch. It is open to all seniors and costs just $5.

Householder Disposal Scheme

Residents are encouraged to take advantage of reduced fees for asbestos disposal across the northern rivers from 1 July 2014. Landfills at Grafton, Kyogle, Lismore, Tweed and Casino will be accepting asbestos under the scheme.

The Household scheme covers bonded asbestos only. Any resident using a licensed asbestos removalist, can dispose of up to 5 Tonnes, once only and must provide proof of residential address.

Householder Asbestos kits for removing up to 10m² are available from most participating councils.

For more information visit www.newaste.org.au or contact your local council.

This project is a NSW EPA Waste Less, Recycle More initiative funded from the waste levy

Transport is even available for those seniors who need it.

To find out more about joining the Border Ranges Day Club contact Helen Edward on 6633 3200 or 0447 633 200, Nancy Cowley on 6632 2042 or Ellen Disson on 6632 2171.

The day club is a joint venture between the Kyogle RSL sub Branch and the Australian Government Department of Veteran Affairs.

Plaque in memory of Aunty Patsy unveiled

A memorial plaque honouring the life and achievements of the late Patsy "Bundjulahn" Nagas has been unveiled almost a year after her death.

Aunty Patsy, the first Aboriginal person elected to Kyogle Council, worked tirelessly to promote reconciliation and improve the health of indigenous people.

Described by her friends as a bridge builder, she went on to be elected Deputy Mayor of Kyogle Council and to initiate the flying of the Aboriginal flag outside the Council Chambers. Aunty Patsy died on 19 January last year after a long battle with kidney disease.

The ceremony to unveil the plaque, which has been erected at Anzac Park Kyogle, was attended by more than 200 people. The Kyogle Reconciliation Group raised about $1,000 for the plaque and members have vowed to continue Aunty Patsy's work to bring people together from all walks of life.

"Our focus in 2015 will continue to be on reconciliation and bringing all of our community together by acknowledging our differences and celebrating our similarities," a spokesperson for the group said.

The Reconciliation Group meets monthly (usually) on the third Thursday of the month at the Kyogle Youth Centre.

Anyone with an interest in closing the gap is encouraged to attend a meeting and gain a sense of how the committee works and its direction. The Reconciliation Group's next direct action is to create a storyboard at the Anzac Park lagoon that tells the story of the waterhole and illustrates the importance of the waterhole in years past to Aboriginal people. To complete the project the Reconciliation Group will be fundraising, applying for grants and funding and seeking sponsorship and donations. Anyone who can help is asked to contact the group by email kyoglereconciliationgroup@gmail.com

Roxy Gallery

'Red Cedar – Now & Then'

6-7 March 2015

An amazing collection of red cedar pieces by local woodworkers will be on display at the Roxy Gallery, Kyogle, until 7 March.

This thematic exhibition promises to delight the visual senses with an abundance of glorious hues emanating from the polished cedar pieces.

The intrinsic beauty of this magnificent wood is underscored by the gifted and talented woodworkers, who have individually selected each piece of timber, sculpted, honed and polished it into many different items.

Last year Marcus Durand approached the gallery director with an idea to hold an exhibition of works by the many woodworkers in our area who spend their time in their backyard sheds carving out their ideas in red cedar and to pay homage to past master craftsman Tom Young.

A total of 14 enthusiastic woodworkers came on board to show the public what they create. 'Red Cedar – Now & Then' has been supported by the Kyogle and District Arts Council with the Kyogle Historical Society providing some useful information on the timber cutters of this region.

In this exhibition, two chairs by the late Tom Young, an internationally acclaimed master cabinet maker who lived and worked from his shed in Horseshoe Creek, are being displayed curtesy of Marcus Durand.

There is a wealth of craftsmanship and skill in the objects on display, from the intricate carving and inlay work to the ambitious cabinets, tables and clocks so finely polished.

Hours of labour has been expended by the artisans in the exhibition to create works of high standard.

Coming up at the Roxy Gallery in early March will be an exhibition by Woodenbong Artists Group (WAG) members who will come together to create an exhibition entitled 'WAG in Autumn'.

VHP introduces Centennial

The Village Hall Players (VHP) is very proud to be a part of the upcoming production of Centennial by Jennifer Strever and Patricia White this March and April.

An original musical with words and a number of songs written specifically for the play, Centennial is the story of three soldiers at Gallipoli in 1915 and of their families back home. Centennial features the amazing One Voice Choir along with actors from the region, including Sinead Joliffe from Kyogle.

A member of the DIRT program, Sinead recently starred as the young Donald Bradman in VHP's production of In This Waking Hour.

Other VHP members are providing technical assistance for the show doing lights and sound.

The production will tour both Richmond Valley and Kyogle local government areas with performances in Casino, Evans Head and Kyogle.

Performance dates and ticket information will be advised in the Kyogle Council newsletter, so watch this space.

West of the Range Festival Gears Up

When mountain bikers taking part in the Three Hospital Charity Bike Ride roll into Bonalbo in May this year, the town will be in full festival mode.

The Bonalbo and Upper Clarence Lions Club have combined with other local service clubs and organisations to host the inaugural West of the Range Festival.

It's been organised to coincide with the arrival on Saturday, 2 May, of the 40 plus mountain bikers expected to take part in the annual charity ride.

The festival, a joint venture of all West of the Range villages, will feature live music, art and craft, children's entertainment and food stalls.

This will be the third year in a row that the mountain bikers have stopped over in Bonalbo as part of the charity ride which raises funds for the Bonalbo, Urbenville and Kyogle hospital auxiliaries.

Festival organisers said the event was shaping up to be a show stopper.

"Not only will it be a great day out for the community, it will give the mountain bike riders a warm welcome worthy of their continued support of our hospital auxiliary," a festival organiser said.
