Council plans for a REVITALISED CBD

A revitalised, vibrant and thriving Kyogle central business district (CBD) – that's what Council hopes to achieve with changes it is proposing to make to local planning guidelines.

The proposed changes to the Kyogle Local Environment Plan (LEP) and Development Control Plan (DCP) will go on public display on Wednesday, 9 December, with the community having until Friday, 5 February, 2021 to comment.

Designed to provide more opportunities for the establishment of businesses and appropriate residential development in the CBD, the changes have been endorsed by Council for public exhibition.

The proposed amendments to the LEP will allow a range of new commercial activities in the CBD including; small scale manufacturing (light industries) as well as certain temporary uses of existing premises, such as sales of local art, craft and produce.

The changes, if adopted, also will allow the development of residential units in the area to help address a shortage of smaller dwellings in the LGA.

Kyogle Council is proposing changes to the Kyogle LEP and DCP with the aim of revitalising the Kyogle CBD.

Council believes the CBD's existing services and infrastructure and its central location, make it an obvious choice for residential unit development.

By allowing temporary uses and residential development, Council aims to make more efficient use of existing vacant land and buildings and stimulate economic and social activity in the town centre.

Along with the changes to the LEP,

Council is also proposing to introduce a new chapter to the Kyogle DCP to provide criteria to guide development in the commercial area. The DCP currently has no guidelines for development in the Kyogle CBD.

The proposed LEP and DCP amendments can be viewed on the 'On Public Exhibition' page of Council's website at www.kyogle.nsw.gov.au. Council is urging all interested community members to take a look and make comment.

from the Mayor ...

The Northern Rivers Joint Organisation, in partnership with other stakeholders and the Northern Rivers Together Steering Group, signed a Memorandum of Understanding on Friday and launched the Northern Rivers brand, pictured right.

Joint Organisations were formed by the NSW Government to change the way local councils collaborate, plan, set priorities and deliver important projects on a regional scale.

The Northern Rivers Brand is a prime example of that premise.

The Northern Rivers Joint Organisation has been involved with this project from its inception as we recognised that this was an important tool with the potential to bring the region together under one branding banner.

The brand mirrors the ethos of the NRJO which aims for the region to work together to build a cohesive, strong and vibrant community.

It has become a unique partnership of local government, industry bodies and private enterprise combining to create an overarching brand which will become synonymous with the region and provide a solid foundation for its future.

The NRJO represents a widely diversified agricultural, lifestyle, production, tourism and creative services hub.

The forward-thinking nature of the region is reflected in the myriad of businesses that have already signed up to the brand. From one-person consultancies to major brewers, more than 160 businesses now share one regional banner.

I would like to thank all the regional businesses, industry bodies, government representatives, the 'Northern Rivers Together' Steering Group and all other stakeholders who developed the Northern Rivers NSW Brand, based on extensive consultation across the region.

The NRJO looks forward to continuing its role on the steering committee and we aspire to establish the Northern Rivers Brand to achieve the same national and international recognition as the likes of the Barossa Valley and Hunter Valley.

From a local perspective, Kyogle Council is looking forward to hearing the announcement by the State Government as to what applications have been successful under Fixing Country Roads.

We have submitted a $33 million application for the Clarence Way, which is classified as a regional road.

It's classification makes it difficult to find funding for it as many road funding programs exclude regional roads in their criteria.

Council's new 30kW solar system on the Kyogle Memorial Institute Hall is now live!

Thanks to our contractors Daley Solar, and Neal Nugent Electrical and Solar who are helping Council towards its commitment of sourcing 25 percent of its electricity needs from on-site solar by 2025.

The Kyogle Memorial Institute installation is one of many new Solar PV installations funded through the Commonwealth Government's Drought Communities Extension Program that will see approximately 250kW of solar PV systems installed at several of Council's facilities in Kyogle, Bonalbo and Woodenbong.

I was honoured to unveil Cr Dennis Mahoney's photo in our gallery of Shire Presidents and Mayors.

Due to an oversight, Cr Mahoney's term as Shire President back in 1915 was not included.

His family brought this to our attention and we invited them to attend the unveiling and speak to his service.

I also presented Kaye Noonan from the former Gateway Office Supplies with a certificate of appreciation from Kyogle Council for her commitment and support of the Kyogle community, sporting clubs, community organisations etc. Kaye has now retired and we wish her all the best in the future.

A certificate of appreciation was also presented to the Watson family from Woodenbong who have been an integral part of the Woodenbong community for over 72 years. After diversifying in the early 2000s, in 2007 they focused primarily on providing bus services for not only local school kids, but for community members as well. Congratulations to the Watson family - they have served their community and ours, very well.

For those who have noticed projects rolling out across the Council area, please rest assured that we will have official openings or launching of these projects so community members can be involved.

The Covid restrictions have limited our usual project openings, but hopefully we are on the road to recovery and these can be scheduled in the New Year.

It has been a challenging year in 2020.

With the drought, bushfires and flood of 2019, we thought 2020 would be a fresh start.

Few people could have anticipated a global pandemic and we have been working hard around the cross border issues, and the impact on our local economies, communities and social connectivity that COVID has generated.

I hope everyone has a very Merry Christmas or Happy Holidays, depending on your beliefs, and that we all have a safe, healthy and happy New Year.

Please stay safe, Danielle Mulholland.

Local Elders fly the flag for NAIDOC WEEK

Kyogle Council and Gugin Gudduba Local Aboriginal Land Council celebrated the start of NAIDOC Week on 9 November with a special flag raising ceremony.

Local Bundjalung elders Uncle Wayne and Uncle Terry Walker raised the Aboriginal and the Torres Strait Islander flags out the front of the Council Chambers after Uncle Andrew Johnston conducted a smoking ceremony.

The theme for NAIDOC Week this year was Always Was, Always Will Be.

Cr Kylie Thomas, speaking on behalf of Council, recognised that First Nations people have occupied and cared for this continent for more than 65,000 years.

She said Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders people were Australia's first explorers and navigators, and provided our first families and communities.

"They have always cared for this land and always will," she said.

"NAIDOC Week recognises their dedication and our partnership with them for this, our nation."

Festival grows from ART MARKET

The Art on Bundjalung Market has morphed into the Dalanggalii Festival and will be held on Saturday 12 June 2021 in the Kyogle Amphitheatre.

The event will be a celebration of art, culture and music and will be an all ages, alcohol and other drugs free event.

The project steering committee, comprising Kyogle Council, Arts Northern Rivers, Gugin Gudduba Local Aboriginal Land Council and Githabul Native Title Group representatives are meeting every few weeks to develop the program, with the aim that it become an ongoing event.

Stay tuned as we confirm who our Aboriginal headline act is going to be.

Sheli Nagas, a proud south sea islander woman connected by family to Bundjalung country has been nominated by the group as the event coordinator.

If you are an Aboriginal artist, performer, market stall holder, singer or dancer with a connection to Bundjalung country and are interested in being a part of this exciting event, please email suzie.coulston@kyogle.nsw.gov.au or call Suzie on 0439 451 564.

Research project looks at LOCAL TOURISM

Tourism in the Kyogle area is set to be revitalised as Kyogle Council kicks off a collaborative research project with NSW National Parks and Wildlife Service (NPWS), Southern Cross University, Tenterfield Shire and NSW Forestry Corp to develop an informed vision for the future of tourism in the region.

The purpose of the project is to look at future demand and current tourism offerings in the Kyogle Council and Tenterfield Shire areas in order to understand what tourists love about the region and where there are opportunities to attract new visitors.

This project is important as it will provide insight into the tourism potential of our area and raise the Kyogle local government area's profile within the domestic tourism market.

It will enable Council to make informed decisions about where and how to provide visitor experiences which attract and educate visitors and celebrate the unique natural and cultural heritage of the area.

By working together, Council and the other stakeholders will be able to deliver the best outcome, not only for visitors, but for the residents, local businesses, Native Title holders and other interested parties.

The project is due for completion in early 2021.

The outcomes of the project will inform future investment decisions by NPWS, Tenterfield and Kyogle councils.

Individuals or organisations with an interest in the visitor economy of Kyogle Council or Tenterfield Shire are encouraged to share their perspectives with the project team.

Contact visitorsofthefuture@scu.edu.au for more information.

ROOTS INVADE SEWER

pipes, causing overflow and costly repairs

This is what happens when you plant shrubs and trees too close to water and sewer lines.

The roots can infiltrate the pipes and cause extensive damage to public and private infrastructure as well as the environment.

And it can be costly to repair.

The photo is the result of a bottle brush planted seven metres from the water line.

The roots, seeking out water, got into the sewer system and caused a blockage resulting in an over flow. This in turn can be a risk to public health and have adverse environmental impacts.

Root damage to water and sewer pipes is one of the reasons why landholders need permission from Council before they plant anything on the nature strip.

Ensuring Council has access to the water and sewer system at all times is another reason.

It is a legislative requirement that nothing is placed on or around Council infrastructure at any time without written approval.

And be warned, Council can remove any item or items placed on or around its water and sewer infrastructure at the landowner's expense.

Urban landholders are also encouraged to check out Council's suggested species list before deciding what to plant in their gardens.

They should also check:

- What else is in the area where they intend to plant

- How the plant will impact buildings and other infrastructure in the vicinity
- What controls can be put in place to insure the plant does not impact critical infrastructure such as sewer pipes.

Please take care of your environment by making sure you check before you plant and in doing so help Council avoid costs that drive up the cost of operational maintenance of the sewer network systems.

Business owners HONOURED

Council has presented Certificates of Appreciation to the principals of two local businesses which have provided exceptional service to the community over many decades.

Kyogle Council Mayor Cr Danielle Mulholland presented the certificates to Kay Noonan of Gateway Office Supplies and Max and Judith Watson and Bruce and Gail of J Watson and Son in a ceremony before the November Council meeting.

Cr Mulholland said the commitment and dedication Mrs Noonan and the Watsons had demonstrated in providing support for local residents over many years was worthy of recognition.

"They have supported local events, community organisations and sporting clubs, each in their own way and we wish them all the best in retirement," she said.

Mrs Noonan, first as manager of the Star Office Supplies Store and then as owner of Gateway Office Supplies, provided support to local events, sporting clubs and community organisations for more than 40 years.

That support included offering her shop as the point of sale for raffle and event tickets and as a central drop off or collection point for event programs and entries.

Mrs Noonan, pictured top right with husband Gary, also volunteered her time in managing the sale of tickets and receipting ticket monies.

The Watson family, through business J Watson and Son, has serviced the Kyogle and Woodenbong communities for 72 years.

Over the years, they have provided the community with taxi, general freight and civil engineering services, including ready mix concrete.

In 2009, the company decided to focus on providing school and passenger bus services to Kyogle, Woodenbong and associated communities.

ALL DAs TO BE LODGED online via planning portal from 1 January

The NSW State Government has amended planning legislation making it mandatory for planning services to be provided online via the NSW Planning Portal from 1 January 2021.

This means that from 1 January all development applications must be submitted to Council and processed electronically, via the Planning Portal. This includes:

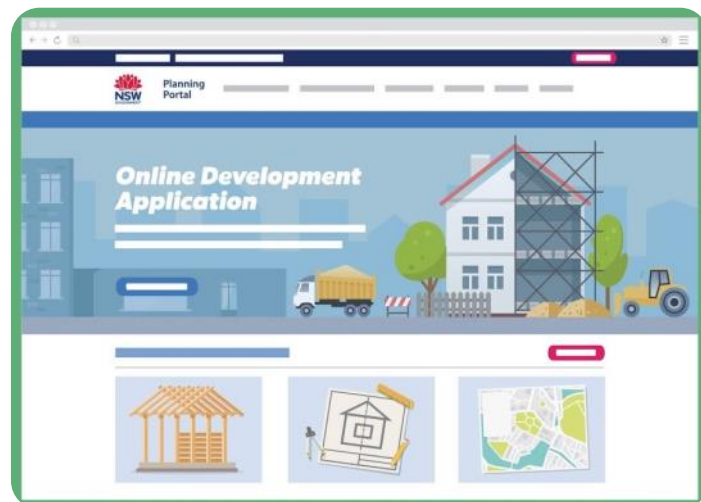

- development applications
- applications to modify a development consent (section 4.55 applications)
- complying development applications
- Construction Certificate applications
- Subdivision Works Certificate applications
- Subdivision Certificate applications, and
- Occupation Certificate applications.

The shift to electronic planning services is designed to make the development application process easier and deliver a more effective, efficient and transparent service for proponents of development.

Proponents will be able to track the progress of their application with Council, view and respond to communications from Council about their application and obtain copies of relevant approvals and certificates.

To use the Portal you will need to register for a Portal account with the NSW Government.

Once you have registered, you will be able to log in to the Portal, complete an online application form and upload any documents required to support your application such as a Statement of Environmental Effects, planning reports, engineering plans and drawings and technical assessments.

You are still required to prepare and submit all documentation that would normally be required to accompany an application submitted to Council in hard copy – the only difference is now your application must be submitted electronically via the Portal.

For further information on the Planning Portal including instructions on how to lodge a development application, please visit <https://www.planningportal.nsw.gov.au>.

If you have any difficulty using the Online DA Service, please contact the ePlanning support team at eplanning@planning.nsw.gov.au.

Council looks forward to receiving your development application via the Portal in 2021.

Road, bridge works ON TRACK

November saw completion of the initial seal of a section of Lynchs Creek Road.

The new section of sealed road, pictured, joins the existing seal at the intersection with Collins Valley Road and continues on to Campbell Bridge.

Thank you to all the locals who have contacted Council to express appreciation for the new road surface.

Work continues on the rehabilitation of Tabulam Road from Tabulam village to the intersection with Jacksons Flat Road.

It has been made possible by the State Government's Fixing Local Roads program which provided 75 percent of the funding for the work.

During November, Council carried out urban road works in Bonalbo including the reconstruction of sections of High Street, road widening and reinstatement of the pedestrian crossing on Woodenbong Road. Sealing the access road and car-parks at Norman Johnston Park was also completed.

The upgrade of Walters Street, Kyogle was carried out at the end of November. Pipes were laid to improve stormwater drainage, and road resurfacing was carried out.

Council's grading program has been affected by continued dry weather. With reduced flows in local streams, Council is unable to access water close to work sites. This is reducing the progress of the grading crews and has forced Council to alter the schedule of the grading program.

Council expects to complete the drainage upgrades on Lions Road in the next month and then move on to guard rail installation.

The bridge replacement at Ferndale Road is progressing on track with the crew now moving on to construction of girders and deck.

The abutments at Lockharts Bridge on Dyraaba Road are expected to be completed in mid-December and work will commence on the structure and approaches. The Dunns Road bridge renewal is also proceeding on schedule.

November also saw the replacement of a flood-damaged pipe crossing at Deep Creek Road; culvert replacement at Apple Gum Road; refurbishment of the toilet facilities at the Tabulam recreation grounds; and installation of a basketball hoop at Tabulam.

Outdoor gym equipment will be installed at Bonalbo and Tabulam in early December.

Change is in the Wind at ROXY GALLERY

Artists have felt the full force of the wind this year and they know the feeling of how hard it is to keep on their feet, to stay determined, to stay upright and true and to hold their course whatever happens.

Council's Roxy Gallery will be hosting the fittingly titled Change is in the Wind exhibition to close the gallery's 2020 program and begin the 2021 schedule of exhibitions.

This exhibition will encompass a huge selection of art works by local and regional artists.

From ceramics, sculpture and a Christmas stocking full of mixed media two-dimensional and three-dimensional works, the gallery will be awash with talent from people who engage in creating art.

COVID-19 may have made us stay at home for a time, but it also supported us to find new interests and talents in life and for some people in this exhibition it will be their first opportunity to exhibit their art in a gallery space.

For others, this exhibition will provide them with a platform to engage the public in viewing their creative ideas and possibly purchasing their works as festive gifts.

Change is in the Wind will open on Wednesday, 9 December and be on show until Sunday, 31 January 2021. During this time, the Gallery will be closed for public holidays on 25, 26, and 27 December, 2020 and Friday 1 January, 2021.

The Roxy Gallery would like to take this opportunity to once again thank all of the wonderful volunteers who support the gallery.

The gallery would also like to thank the many people, local, regional and visiting, who have shared with all of the artists their interest in supporting the love of being creative.

Jo Kelly's Blossoming Love will feature in the Change is in the Wind exhibition at Council's Roxy Gallery.

GIANT PUMPKIN Festival to be held in January

Planning is well underway for the Summerland Giant Pumpkin and Watermelon Festival which will be held in Kyogle on Saturday, 9 January 2021.

Special guest at this year's festival will be ABC Radio presenter and former local lad Scott Lamond, who will make an appearance at the weigh-in and display in Stratheden Street.

Scott, who is now based in Bundaberg, occasionally hosts Saturday Night Country and Australia All Over.

Meanwhile, the region's artists have been invited to participate in a still life art competition, while children can compete in a coloring-in competition.

Local eateries are also being encouraged to get involved in the "all things pumpkin and melon week" by including menu items based on either pumpkin or watermelon.

The cooking competition has been extended to include sweet or savory watermelon dishes as well as the traditional pumpkin scones and pies.

Festival organisers are also urging businesses to decorate their premises for the event and there may even be a sculpting competition for those keen enough to sculpt a pumpkin into a work of art.

As well as these fringe activities there will be the excitement of viewing the giant pumpkins and watermelons arriving and being weighed, and a cash prize will be won by the person who guesses the weight of the pumpkin that will be displayed at CRT during the week prior to 9 January.

Musicians from Kyogle Country Music Association will provide background music while all this activity is taking place.

Xmas lunch NOT ON

The Kyogle Community Christmas Lunch has been cancelled for 2020 due to COVID-19.

President of Growing Kyogle, Peter Baxter, said it was with "deep regret" that the decision had been made to cancel the popular event, which catered for people living alone and the elderly.

"Growing Kyogle found that we were unable to meet the requirements of the COVID-19 Health Orders concerning likely numbers attending, the proximity of attendees to each other and the safety of the volunteers facilitating the event," he said.

Mr Baxter was hopeful the Community Christmas Lunch could be held next year.

ACTORS wanted for auditions

Village Hall Players will hold auditions on Saturday 12 December for the 2021 production of It's My Party (And I'll Die If I Want To).

Director Kate Dawson is looking for a male lead in his late 50s or 60s, a female in her late 50s or 60s to play the wife of the lead character, a male and female in their 30s, a female in her late 20s and a male of any aged.

Rehearsals will begin on Sunday 31 January 2021, with performance dates set down for 18, 22 and 24 April 2021.

So, if you have time to commit to rehearsals and the production itself and are up to the challenge, you are urged to come along to the auditions, which will be held at the Kyogle Memorial Institute Hall on 12 December starting at 1.30pm.

If you can't make the auditions, but are interested in one of the roles, call Kate on 0490 097 992 or Lynette on 0429 922 169.

Village Hall Players are also looking for people to work behind the scenes. If you would be interested in helping out with stage lighting, backstage work, make up, costuming and sound effects, call Kate or Lynette. Training will be provided to anyone volunteering for the first time.

The event will feature three days of inspiring writers' workshops and award winning and regional author interviews.

There will also be a guest panel Q & A, social activities, literary networking, music, poetry, street events, and community fun.

This will be a chance for the community to experience a Writer's Festival in Kyogle.

Former Shire President REMEMBERED

It's taken more than 100 years, but the portrait of former Kyogle Shire President Dennis Mahoney has finally been hung in the Kyogle Council Chambers.

Mr Mahoney, an Irish immigrant who came to Australia as a youth, was President of Kyogle Shire from 1915-1916.

He was elected to the Council in 1911 and served two terms before standing down in 1917.

Council was unaware it's gallery of former Shire Presidents and Mayors was missing one of its alumni until Ms Mahoney discovered the oversight during a visit to the Council Chambers.

Once notified of the oversight, Council worked with the Mahoney family and the Kyogle and District Historical Society to find a suitable photograph to have enlarged, mounted and framed.

Cr Mulholland said hanging the portrait in the Council Chambers "was a long overdue correction" of an unwitting oversight.

"I'd like to thank the family for bringing this to our attention so we could correct it and give Cr Mahoney the recognition he deserved," she said.
