from the Mayor ...

I was honoured to attend the dedication of the Private Tom Hall Bench at Bonalbo on Sunday 16 May.

The commemorative bench has been installed in the Patrick McNamee Anzac Memorial Park.

Also at the ceremony were Councillor Earle Grundy, State Member for Lismore Janelle Saffin, representatives from the Kyogle RSL sub-Branch including Bruce MacKenzie and Jack McDonough, past veterans, members of the Hale family, and members of the Bonalbo and district community, see photo right.

The idea for a commemorative bench was suggested to Council with advice coming from the community as to what kind of bench they would like to see installed, its design and of course, the dedication to Tom.

A light lunch followed the event at the Dog 'n Bull Hotel.

The bench is a tangible example of how Council and community can work together to deliver outcomes for the community that they actually want.

There's a lot going on at the moment, with meetings in Sydney and across the region starting to ramp up again.

The Clarence Way features largely in many of these conversations.

We are waiting on the announcement of the second round of funding under the Fixing Country Roads program to see if Council has been successful in gaining a grant to upgrade the road.

The Bonalbo Progress Association is circulating a petition calling on the Government to provide Council with funding to repair and upgrade the Clarence Way from the Bruxner Highway to Urbenville and have also produced bumper stickers which say "I survived the Clarence Way".

So please sign the petition to help Council get this $30 million application across the line and buy a sticker to help a reasonably new organisation get on their feet.

The stickers were generously funded by locals, Paul and Michelle Malt but all proceeds go to the Bonalbo Progress Association.

The bumper stickers are available in most shops in Bonalbo, the Bonalbo Post Office and Kyogle Pharmacy.

One is also heading up to Woodenbong soon.

Alternatively, there is an online petition at https://www.parliament.nsw.gov.au/la/Pages/ePetition-details.aspx?q=sbAeRI0uX%2F%20ICriu1jGXtA%3D%3D&fbclid=IwAR1hxYkmH9\_yeKUzfxEbeDn4lLQlqpluR32Z00ZU\_qvr82orBrih1e6N2GI

There are great local events happening all over our council area - with the Writer's Festival in Kyogle, the Tabulam Art Festival, see photo left, and village markets to name a few. If you're out and about, drop in and check out what's happening in your local area - you're bound to find something of interest.

The drought, bushfires and now the current wet season have impacted our roads.

We recognise there are potholes popping up, but please be patient: we have a 3800km2 road and bridge network to maintain so there are no quick fixes.

Crews are working to capacity.

If you have an issue with your road, please submit a customer request either via email at council@kyogle.nsw.gov.au, call 6632 1611, or drop into Council's administration centre.

Council's incredible Customer Service staff will be happy to take the details and make sure your complaint has been entered into the system.

We have just delivered a record, once in a lifetime budget, with more than $200 million planned to be invested in our communities over the next four years.

For a small rural council with rates being only 23% of our revenue, that's an incredible achievement and one we can attribute to our success in lobbying both State and Federal Governments for additional funding.

The details of the budget are available on the Council's website.

Meanwhile, the lobbying will continue so we can invest even more funds in the Kyogle local government area.

OPINIONS SOUGHT ON

town centre revitalisation options

From page 1

Council has extended the closing date for community comment on the draft main street and civic precinct landscaping plan and is now seeking feedback on four different options.

The draft plan provides a vision for the future revitalization of the Kyogle town centre that improves road safety, particularly for children and the elderly, better manages traffic flow, provides more green spaces and makes existing public spaces more usable.

The starting point for this process was the emerging desire from the community to see investment in the town centre that would support business growth and facilitate community events and activities.

Building upon Council's adopted Open Space Design Guide, concept plans have been developed that show the potential for key spaces and streets in and around the town centre to be redeveloped to create a safer and more attractive town centre. It also aims to improve safety for motorists at intersections.

Consultation responses so far have broadly welcomed the principle of enhanced greening, improved pedestrian access and activation of the town centre, however there is clearly significant interest in the impact that any proposed redevelopment will have on parking.

In order to create a more comfortable and attractive town centre for all users, it will be necessary to reduce the number of formal parking spaces in the CBD.

"We can't achieve all these objectives without some change and a few compromises," Council's General Manager Graham Kennett said.

"With the main compromise being the loss of some parking spaces in the main street.

"The question the community has to resolve is whether they are prepared to give up a few parking spaces in the main street in return for a town centre that is much safer for pedestrians and motorists, and which is a much more inviting place to visit and do business?"

The four options now being considered are:

Option 1 – Draft plans on public display – 40kph zone through town centre, replace centre parking between Stratheden Street and Kyogle Road with angle parking and reversing lane, retain town clock in current location, maximise green space, final design would see reduction in car parking of around 75 spaces

Option 2 – Draft plans with town clock relocated – 40kph zone through town centre, replace centre parking between Stratheden Street and Kyogle Road with angle parking and reversing lane, town clock moved to Stratheden Street plaza area, final design would see reduction in car parking of around 42 spaces

Option 3 – retain centre parking and improve landscaping – 40kph zone through town centre, retain current parking arrangements, retain town clock in current location, maximise green space, final design would see a reduction in car parking of around 36 spaces

Option 4 – no changes other than 40kph zone – 40kph zone through town centre, retain current parking arrangements, retain town clock in current location, no additional landscaping or seating or gardens, no loss of parking spaces on Summerland Way

Open civic space suitable for markets and other events

Trellis structure over walkway and rest area

Catenary lighting opportunity linking the shared zone plaza with the new town square

Tall feature plantings (e.g. Palms) in rows

High-quality finishes to define new shared zone (10km/hour speed limit, one-way traffic)

Written submissions will now be accepted up until 4pm on Friday, 18 June 2021 and should be sent to coun-cil@kyogle.nsw.gov.au or PO Box 11, Kyogle, NSW, 2474.

Council is also launching an on-line poll on the four options. Community members will be able to vote for their preferred option and provide comments on the overall plan to revitalize the town centre. All submissions previously received will be considered together with responses to the on-line poll.

WORKSHOPS for prospective councillors

Free workshops for people interested in running for Kyogle Council at the 4 September local government elections will be held at Kyogle in June.

The workshops will be conducted by a facilitator from Local Government NSW and are aimed at giving potential candidates a better understanding of the role and responsibilities of an elected member of council.

The same content will be presented at both workshops, with one scheduled to be held from 5-8pm on Tuesday 22 June and the other from 9am-noon on Wednesday 23 June at the Kyogle Memorial Institute Hall.

- At the end of the workshop, participants will be able to:
- Identify the key requirements for becoming a candidate at the NSW local government elections;
- Understand the role of a councillor, and how it fits in with other roles and levels of government;
- Understand the role as an elected member of the governing body;
- Understand the expectations and potential challenges in becoming a councillor;
- Understand the Integrated Planning and Reporting framework, and how councillors work within this;

- Identify key elements of council meetings, including code of meeting practice, code of conduct and conflict of interest.

Council General Manager Graham Kennett said councillors played an important role in representing the community and made important decisions that shaped services and the future of their communities.

"Being a councillor takes a serious commitment that requires dedication to community service and good governance. It's important that prospective councillors understand how councils work and what is expected of them," he said.

"I urge all prospective candidates to take the time to get a full understanding of what is involved in being a Councillor. Council's website contains policies, annual reports and financial statements that I encourage prospective candidates to take the time to familiarise themselves with them."

People thinking about standing for Council at the 4 September election are also encouraged to visit the NSW Electoral Commission website at <https://www.elections.nsw.gov.au/FAQs/Candidate-FAQs> or phone the Electoral Commission during business hours on 1300 022 011.

The Electoral Commission has the following six step guide for candidates:

Step 1 - Familiarise yourself with the election processes and your legal obligations

Step 2 - Register as a candidate or group to start campaigning

Step 3 - Manage and record your campaign finances throughout the entire election period

Step 4 - Candidate nominations

Step 5 - Registration of electoral material ("how to vote") to distribute on election day

Step 6 - Disclose political donations and electoral expenditure

Voting in the 4 September Local Government elections is compulsory.

WRITERS FEST an overwhelming success

Crowds flocked to the first Kyogle Writers Festival, which took place between 14-16 May over seven different venues.

The event was an overwhelming success, with ticket sales better than expected, accommodation in town booked out and several local businesses reporting their best day of trade in a long time.

The festival began with an event at the Sugarbowl Cafe which included a Welcome to Country smoking by local elder Uncle Andrew Johnston, and a recital by poet David Hallet.

Highlights of the festival included the First Nations panel hosted by Radio National's Daniel Browning, Ellen van Neerven's event at the Roxy - complete with guest appearance by festival headliner Melissa Lucashenko, the Narrative Podcasting workshop and the Writing Place in the Country panel hosted by local writer Jarrah Dundler on the Richmond River Independent stage.

Many festival goers commented on the strength of the line-up, the warmth and hospitality of locals and how stunning our little neck of the woods really is.

Like all good festivals, this one was run largely on the back of volunteers, with many locals opening their homes to visiting writers for the weekend.

The Kyogle Writers Festival would like to thank Kyogle Council General Manager Graham Kennett and his team at Council for their support of the festival, without which it would have not been possible, and looks forward to strengthening this relationship moving forward.

As well as major sponsors KDAC, Arts

Northern Rivers, The Richmond River Independent and Southern Cross University.

The weekend finished with drinks at the Kyogle Bowls Club, which saw writers and festival goers mingling with the Kyogle Turkey's fans and players, in a way that truly summed up our small town.

Plans are already afoot for the 2022 edition of the festival, so stay tuned for more information in the coming months.

NEW BRIDGE TO use earth friendly concrete

Council is hoping that a new precast style of bridge it will use to replace All-cocks Bridge on Bentley Road will dramatically reduce bridge build times and cut down on greenhouse emissions.

Work on the new bridge, which incorporates cutting edge technology, was due to start at the end of May.

The new precast bridge has been built by Wagners out of their "Earth Friendly Concrete" (EFC). Simply put, EFC is concrete that uses no ordinary cement.

Instead, EFC uses a binder made from two industrial waste by-products: blast furnace slag (waste from iron production) and fly ash (waste from coal fired power generation).

This alternative eco-friendly binder reduces the carbon emissions associated with normal cement and also has a much lower embodied energy, a win-win for the environment.

The large precast units have already been built and are currently curing.

Works on site installing the piles were due to start 24 May with the installation of the five main components following shortly after.

This proof of concept bridge should cut installation time to less than a third that of a normal bridge, reducing the time motorists are inconvenienced.

Council's bridge crew prepares to lay the concrete deck on the new Matthews Bridge on Green Pigeon Road.

NEW MATTHEWS bridge opens to traffic in June

The new $1.18 million Matthews Bridge on Green Pigeon Road is expected to be open to traffic in early June.

The concrete deck on the new two-lane bridge was poured mid May, with construction of the road approaches and installation of the abutment scour protection the final stages of the project.

The new 35 metre long bridge sits about half a metre higher than the old timber bridge, giving the community better flood immunity.

Built by Council's bridge crew, the new structure took about three months to complete. The crew had to battle three consecutive floods and recurrent wet weather during the build, yet in spite of the challenges thrown down by Mother Nature, they are on track to bring the new bridge to completion well within budget.

CLARENCE WAY upgrade project accelerates

Council has sealed the first 1.2km section of the Clarence Way between Woodenbong and Urbenville as part of a $5 million project to upgrade the 12km stretch of road.

Work has now started on the second stage of the project, pictured right, sealing another 1.2km section of the road near Urbenville.

The project has been funded through the Federal Government's Heavy Vehicle Safety and Productivity Program.

Local contractors MJ Smith and Maslen Contractors are carrying out much of the work, with Council overseeing the project.

A second works crew will be brought on to the project in June, allowing Council to complete two sections of the road at once.

This will speed up construction works and reduce inconvenience to motorists.

The project is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

WOODENBONG

artists exhibit their work

WORD, the Roxy Gallery exhibition conceived out of the support for the Kyogle Writers Festival, has received plenty of praise.

Featuring local artists responding to the literate in the visual, the exhibition revealed how words can connect to artmaking both as a vehicle for ideas and as a driver for interpreting visual images.

The June exhibition at Council's Roxy Exhibition will feature works by members of the Woodenbong Arts Group (WAG).

Titled Working WAGS, the exhibition will open to the public on Wednesday, 2 June.

It will showcase the many talents living and creating in the north west region of the Kyogle Local Government Area.

The official opening will be held on Saturday 5 June from 1-3pm and provides a great opportunity for the public to come along and meet members of the Woodenbong Arts Group Inc.

Woodenbong is a thriving area full of beauty that inspires the creative mind.

This painting by Christine Reid of Mount Lindsay from the top of Edinburgh Castle will feature in June's Working WAGS exhibition at Council's Roxy Gallery.

Many of the artists living in this region are influenced by the majestic landscapes and refined crafting skills from living off the land.

The Roxy Gallery is happy to support artists from this region showcase their talents and provide marketing opportunities for their creative works.

Watercolour WORKSHOP

Have you ever wanted to brush up your skills and knowledge on the techniques of watercolour?

Artist Christine Cameron is a skilled watercolourist and has exhibited her artworks throughout the Northern Rivers.

She has been undertaking watercolour workshops in Ballina and Lismore and now is offering a weekend workshop in Kyogle.

These workshops are for all skill levels and are a fantastic way to meet new people, learn new skills and create new artworks.

The Kyogle and District Arts Group will be hosting the two-day workshop on the weekend of 12-13 June in the Supper Room of the Kyogle Memorial Hall.

This is a great opportunity to enjoy the medium of transparent watercolour while learning design principles, techniques and paint application.

The cost of the workshop is $200 for the two days (with discounts of $15 for current Arts Council members).

It will start at 9.30am and run through until 4 pm with morning tea provided, lunch is BYO.

Those attending should bring two old bath towels, an HB or 2B pencil and note paper and get ready to play and learn.

Each participant will be provided with watercolour paper and brushes and watercolour paints to use.

Full cash payment is requested on bookings, which are being taken at the Roxy Gallery. Places are limited to 12 people. For more information, contact Carol Harris on 0412 321 552.

KEG TO MARK World Environment Day

The winner of the Kyogle Environment Group's (KEG) art competition for World Environment Day will be announced at the Kyogle Farmers Market on Saturday 5 June.

KEG had asked the area's budding artists to design a poster for mark World Environment Day 2021, which will kick off the UN Decade on Ecosystem Restoration (a global mission to revive billions of hectares of land and sea).

KEG will also have an information stall at the market to raise awareness of the importance of healthy ecosystems and give away free trees.

World Environment Day has been celebrated every year on 5 June since 1974 and while Australia still has large tracts of wilderness, these are under threat, and KEG is hoping to encourage people to be vigilant every day of the year.
